Harris County Sheriff's Office spokesperson Jason Spencer said the homeowner called 911 Thursday evening to report a possible home invasion. Spencer said the woman told officials she heard noises in her home.

While deputies were en route to investigate, Spencer said the woman then called her father who arrived before deputies.

Spencer said when the deputies arrived, they saw a white pickup truck parked close to the home. They approached the front door where Spencer said there was an "encounter" with the father and a deputy fired his gun and shot the father in the leg. They immediately applied a tourniquet and called for an ambulance, Spencer said. The victim was "alert and conscious," at the scene before being transported to a hospital for treatment, Spencer said.

Officials do not believe language was a barrier during the "encounter" between the homeowner's father and deputies. It is unknown if he was armed. Spencer said there were multiple adults and children in the home at the time of the shooting, though most were in the upstairs part of the house.

A three-pronged investigation will begin into the deputy-involved shooting, Spencer said, and dashcam and bodycam footage from the responding deputies will be reviewed.
